

Digital Resources to Support Representation of Women in Teaching and Learning

- 100 Women Who Changed the World provides a list of influential women throughout history. This resource can help educators identify women to focus on when teaching specific topics.
- Check out this fantastic curated list of exhibits and collections provided by the Library of Congress, representing women through history.
- Learning for Justice provides resources, strategies, and lessons for teaching and learning that focus on gender and identity.
- Common Sense Media has compiled a list of books that feature extraordinary women.

*Women's suffrage image retrieved from San Jose Museum of Quilts & Textiles

"I raise up my voice--not so I can shout but so that those without a voice can be heard...we cannot succeed when half of us are held back."

- Malala Yousafzai,
Activist for Female Education and Nobel Peace Prize Recipient